Joint Library Fray Occupies Most of Council Meeting

by Gunnar Norberg

It was touch and go for a while at last night's long City Council meeting, as to whether or not the Council would join the Monterey Bay Area Co-operative Library System, but eventually the step was taken on a 3-2 vote.

Mayor Barney Laiolo and Councilman Frank Falge, after vainly urging delay, voted against the resolution, while Councilmen Eben Whittlesey, Ken Brown, and Herbert Blanks voted for it.

When City Administrator Hugh Bayless said the disputed joint library resolution had to go to Sacramento the next day if, according to the local library, "it was to do any good", Mayor Laiolo said he did not like this kind of "bum's rush" and that he "wanted to get some answers from Salinas" before finally going ahead with the tentatively approved joint library plan.

Councilman Falge said he wanted to get "better answers" than he so far had received, before taking any additional step to implement the county-wide library effort.

He said he did not like to consider the prospect of adding to the cost of Carmel's "already most expensive" library which would result because of loss of some $1,600 of library rental-card revenue now coming from non-resident borrowers.

He also said he questioned whether Carmel should continue to pay the county library tax in addition to the large city tax for local library maintenance.

There could be other, and larger, deficits to make up in addition to the $1,600 mentioned.

In joining the county-wide effort, both Monterey and Salinas expressed dissatisfaction with Monterey County's present level of library support, and pointed out that only by using the City of Carmel as an indispensable crutch could the County of Monterey even be eligible to become a unit in the proposed joint library system.

At present the county library in Salinas does not meet the level of state requirements and if it were to do so, substantial added tax costs might be assessed to Carmel city taxpayers as long as Carmel continues to pay the county library tax.

If the County Board of Supervisors were to increase the county library tax to bring its county library up to the required state-imposed standard, this could mean an added county-collected tax of as much as 9 cents a hundred, or more than $23,000 a year.

When the Monterey City Council joined the county-wide library project (only after Carmel had done so), it took the County of Monterey to task in these terms: ". . . all the member agencies of the newly created Monterey Bay Area Co-operative Library System, except the County of Monterey, have exceeded the minimum requirements to qualify for a

Veteran's Day Honors For Military Dead

Ceremonies at Carmel's memorial to those who died in two world wars will be held on Veteran's Day, Monday, Nov. 11.

Robert Gilmour, commander of the Carmel Post 512 of the American Legion, announced the program for the annual celebration to honor American dead who gave their lives for their country on the field of battle.

Ceremonies will begin at 11 a.m. at the Memorial to World War I veterans at the corner of Ocean Ave. and San Carlos.

Participating will be color guards from the Monterey Barracks, Veterans of World War I and their Auxiliary and color guards and members of the local Legion Post.

At 11 a.m., all the churches of Carmel will toll their bells in tribute, and a bugler from Carmel high school will sound taps, the haunting call that summons to final rest.

Mrs. Florence Gilmour, wife of the Carmel Legion commander, will place a memorial wreath on the monument.

The group will then move to Devendorf Plaza, where Mrs. Marie Alderson will place a similar wreath on the World War II monument.

The City of Carmel is the only Peninsula community having a monument in honor of those who gave their lives in two great wars that democracy might survive.

Now, according to Rolland Pilon, past commander of the Carmel American Legion, a third memorial will be erected, honoring those who have fallen in Korean and Vietnam.

The committee of which Pilon is chairman has been receiving donations from the general public and considerable support from Carmel merchants, and action has now been taken to have the stone memorial prepared, and a suitable bronze plaque will be cast.

When everything is completed, the community will be invited to participate in the dedication of the monument.

The purpose of the monument, Pilon pointed out, is to remember those who gave their lives in the service of their country, and their names will be inscribed on the plaque, thus preserving them from the anonymity of being just a name in a newspaper casuality list.

World Affairs Talk On France

The magnitude of the student protest and the nearly complete work stoppage that characterized the strike of French workers was described by S. Marshall Kempner, prominent San Francisco investment director, who addressed the World Affairs Council last Friday evening at Brey Hall. The press, he said, underplayed the seriousness of these events.

Under these difficult circumstances, Gen. de Gaulle handled himself well, permitting Prime Minister Pompidou to take care of the delicate day to day negotiations while the general himself made sure he had strong military support, should that prove necessary. He also astutely phrased the issue of the June election as a choice between himself and communism.

The election, of course, was an overwhelming De-Gaulle victory. The general further promised students and workers "participation" forecasting important internal changes.

Kempner then went on to emphasize the serious and long term economic effects on France which flowed from those days of turmoil last May and June. The most obvious consequence had to do with the loss of gold reserves as foreign banks and speculators withdrew their assets from France.

He also stressed the internal inflation resulting from wage and price increases, all of which have had an adverse effect on French foreign trade.

Red Face Department —

Ah, the anguish created by the slip of a typists finger or the dropping of a wrong linotype mat.

Last weeks' Pine Cone carried a story on a meeting of the Carmel Cultural Commission by Gunnar Norberg.

Norberg's copy, in the first paragraph, attributed Carmel Mayor Barney Laiolo, referring to the Sunset Center, as saying that it ". . . was now necessary to get the Center on a business basis."

The set type came out ". . . was not necessary to get. . ."

Type lice and gremlins were responsible, and our apologies.

TRAVEL BUFF'S NOTE—

Dr. Reuben Johnson's next travel lecture at MPC will be on Tuesday, Nov. 12, and he will cover the Middle East.

S.F. Bay Women Enjoy Carmel

Something new in shopping tours was inaugurated last week when 11 members of the San Francisco Peninsula Children's Theatre Association enjoyed a day in Carmel — courtesy of the new Carmel dress shop The Toggery.

Transportation was provided by Barbara Jackson, owner of The Toggery, in her executive DC-3 "Flying Toggery I."

The visiting women were picked up in the Bay area and flown to the Monterey airport, then taken to the Crichton House, where lunch was highlighted by a fashion show presented by The Toggery.

They spent the rest of the day wandering through the shops of Carmel.

Mrs. Judd Sherril, former Hillsborough resident and now associated with Mrs. Jackson in The Toggery, initiated these courtesy flights.

She will continue them until all her friends on the San Francisco Peninsula and some 200 members of the association have been introduced to Carmel and its charms.

HELP FOR KIDS — Mrs. Milton M. Frumkin, left, and Mrs. Jim Smith, admire UNICEF Christmas cards that went on sale throughout the Peninsula last week. Proceeds go to hip the Nobel prize-winning UNICEF program for aid to children. Leading artists from all over the world designed the cards, which reflect the joy and cheer of the holiday season.

Planning Group Offers Flanders Solution

New guide lines for development of the 15-acre Flanders Estate property at the southeast corner of the city, were given to Hall & Goodhue, architects and planners, representing the heirs, at last Thursday afternoon's Carmel Planning Commission meeting.

Acting on a report of an ad hoc committee, the Commission approved its findings by a 4-to-2 vote. The report contained four recommendations:

(1) It rejected the 58-to-62 lot proposal, which had been put forward by Hall & Goodhue; (2) it said single-family homes should be built in the area, rather than condominiums, and that due recognition of difficult terrain and proper accommodation to it, should be insured; (3) it proposed that 15,000 square feet, be the minimum lot-size in the development; and (4) it suggested that Forest Road, as well as Mt. View, be considered an access street to the subdivision.

Of the four recommendations, the one lifting proposed minimum lot size to 15,000 square feet, became the principal subject for discussion before the Commission voted to approve it.

Because lot sizes generally throughout Carmel city residential areas are a minimum of 4,000 square feet, Gordon Hall, speaking for owners of the Estate, felt the Commission might be exceeding its authority in specifying so large a minimum lot-size for the Flanders development.

City Planning Director John Riling pointed out, however, that the parcel had never been subdivided and that it had been used in its entirety as a family home, and that now, for the first time, it had become the subject of a subdivision proposal.

In setting the high lot-size line, the ad hoc committee had been influenced not only by difficulties in the terrain — features of the Flanders property, but also by the fact that just to the south of it, outside city limits, the minimum lot size is much larger — one acre per dwelling — and just to the east, also outside city limits in Hatton Fields, it is 20,000 square feet per dwelling site.

City Attorney William Burleigh suggested that a minimum lot-size of 12,000 square feet might possibly be made, but the main requirement would be that the proviso be "reasonable".

Reports From RLS

By Peter Meckel

We are writing this article midst a frenzy of activity in preparation for the 1968 Parents' Weekend. The entire campus is filled with the exitement of the coming events and enthusiastic efforts are being put forth both by students and faculty members.

This year's Parents' Weekend will include activities in athletics, art, music, and drama. R.L.S. takes on Santa Cruz High School in both varsity and junior varsity water polo; Menlo School in varsity and junior varsity soccer; and hosts the Independent School Soccer and Cross-Country League meet. The annual art exhibition is the largest and finest in years — ten galleries are participating. Local galleries include Galerie de Tours, Skaalegaard's Square-Rigger Art Gallery, Zantman Art Galleries, the Laky Galleries, the Perry House Gallery of Fine Arts, and the Cost Carmel Seascape Gallery. Three galleries will also be represented from San Francisco. The drama department is putting the finishing touches on two one-act plays for presentation at 9:30 Saturday evening. The public is invited and cordially welcomed to any or all of these events.

Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the gymnasium will be open for further display of the art exhibitions and at 4:30, there will be a special symposium entitled "Why Every Young Man Needs a Working Knowledge of Exceptional Art." The symposium will be divided into three sections: one, the importance of a grasp of graphics; two, supervision of art and design from the future executive's chair; and three, the cultural knowledge required for community leaders. The speakers on these three subjects are members of America's Society of Illustrative Artists, San Francisco chapter. They represent some of the most skilled, most versatile, and deservedly highest-paid of any artists in our country. The master of ceremonies for the symposium will be Peter Warren, communications director and public relations director for the San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce. Speakers are John Rutherford, president of the Society of Illustrators of San Francisco; Warren Lee, California Master Painter, and Amado Gonzales, university instructor and designer for the San Francisco Chronicle Living Section. This will be an outstanding symposium and we encourage you to attend.

Parent-teacher conferences will begin at 10 a.m. on Saturday and end by 4:30 in order that all may participate in the dedication of the recently completed Samuel F. B. Morse Fine Arts Center. This magnificent new structure has provided an excellent home for the arts activities on the R.L.S. campus, and it is hoped that its influence will enrich not only the school, but the community as a whole.

The Fine Arts Center, designed by John Lyon Reid, includes a music room and six practice rooms, a combination little theatre — lecture hall, a beautiful cork-walled art gallery, photography dark room, a publications room, an art studio, and quarters for the artist-in-residence.

Things Visitors Say

Standing in front of a newsstand in which the PINE CONE was displayed, an out-of-town man nudged his wife and pointed, "Look, they even have their own newspaper."

SANDY HILLYER . . . in the role of national campaign manager for Nixon, was one of the speakers at the candidates night put on by Middle School students Monday.

Middle School Puts On Political Campaign — Nixon Winner

Jo Brazell's advanced reading classes at Middle School assumed the roles of national political candidates and their supporters at Brey Hall Monday evening.

One by one they advanced to the podium and presented arguments gleaned from reading candidate's speeches, party platforms, campaign literature and watching delivery by candidates and supporters on television.

The youngsters gave a remarkable demonstration of clear diction and persuasive platform manner, in many cases assuming the mannerisms of the men they were impersonating.

Taking the role of Nixon was Brian Smith; Humphrey, Mike Wellborn; Wallace, Ted Buck; General Eisenhower; Kathie Simpsen; former president Truman, David Scheffer; Ted Kennedy, Bonnie Chinn.

A stirring speech, "I'm tired of feeling guilty," was given by Ann Yarbrough based on a speech by Max Rafferty. Cranston was represented by Jeff Jones.

The following day the students at Middle School voted. Voted tallied 403 for Nixon, 2956 for Humphrey, 31 for Wallace. Rafferty received 343 votes to Cranston's 300.

We Can Choose How We Feel Says Dr. David Kupfer at Forum

"Many people collect hurt feelings just as they do trading stamps," said Dr. David Kupfer of the International Transactional Analysis Assn., in his address at the first forum of "Man at the Edge of Becoming Human" self-awareness series at Monterey Peninsula College last Friday evening.

"Two books entitles them to a free mad; five, to a two day sulk; ten, to a free getting away from people; 50 books to a divorce; and 1000, the big prize, a homicide or suicide."

Others collect good feelings in the way of achievements, diplomas, cups.

We don't have to feel depressed, resentful or angry, at least not for any length of time, he said.

He explained the game theory contained in Dr. Eric Berne's best seller book, "The Games People Play." In answer to a typical question, "What do you expect of a person with a wooden leg, a broken home etc." he would answer "So these things happened. What are you going to do about it?"

Dr. Kupfer discussed group therapy which he said was far more helpful than single therapy. While he is interested in the historical reasons for a person's behaviour, he deals with the present behaviour.

Down From Klamath Falls

Mrs. James (Lorene) Rowe returned last week from seven months at Klamath Lake in southern Oregon where they are building a cabin (really a large two story house). Assisting in the building is George Riecks of Monterey, who at 76 years old, cut down 31 trees to make room for the house.

Lorene herself helped clean 3500 used bricks, and had to make many decisions since James Rowe could leave the shoe store for only limited periods, even though Deen is doing the buying now.

Son Deen, his father-in-law Bill Schaefer, and son Robert of Everett, Washington have just come down from a weekend of hunting there. Other attractions are 24-inch trout and nearby skiing.

Deen and his wife Karen, who used to teach at Woods School, recently returned from a buying trip to Chicago. She divides her time between two-year-old Barbara and helping at the store.

Clayton Neills, Sr. and Jr. Back

The Clayton Neill family, both senior and junior, have been doing extensive traveling this past summer.

Clayton Neill Jr. his wife Katie and their daughter Kathie, took a quick three week trip all over Europe. They heard some good music at Innsbruck and visited art galleries where ever they went.

The Clayton Neill Seniors took a leisurely four month trip around the world.

New Supervisor of Adoptions

For their October meeting, the Monterey Area Council of the Childrens Home Society held a buffet luncheon in the office's new wing at 444 Pearl Street. Mrs. Leonard Cohen chaired the meeting.

The necessity for increased working space and also for additional personnel was explained by Mrs. Helen P. Robinson, executive of the adoption agency, because of the tremendous demand for their services. The agency has been fortunate in obtaining a new supervisor, Mrs. Mrs. Margaret Steen, who has had experience in the adoption field in Minnesota. She will assume her duties on December 1.

However, Mrs. Robinson pointed out that in no community can or should a private agency assume the total responsibility for adoptions. By the summer of 1969 the Monterey County Welfare Department should have an adoption unit in operation.

This was one of the recommendations of the League of Women Voters in their report "Welfare in Monterey County — Burden or Opportunity." Mrs. Lucy Banfield, who had worked on this report, was present at the meeting. Other guests were: Chester Van Ormon and Mrs. Dorothy Davis, both of the County Welfare Commission.

Anyone interested in membership in Children's Home Society, or in its activities, may obtain further information from its office, or by calling Mrs. Cohen at 624-5575.

Johnstons Back From Rio de Janeiro

The Franklin Johnstons returned recently from a trip to Rio de Janeiro where they visited their daughter Jo Ann and her husband Richard Schwartz who is on the political staff of the American Embassy.

Jo Ann went through Carmel High School and was graduated from Stanford. She met her future husband when they were exchange students in an experiment in international living.

Besides the usual sightseeing, the Johnstons also celebrated the birthday of their four year old grandson Rickie. Actually, from their penthouse apartment, they could see the two greatest attractions, Sugar Loaf and the figure of Christ on top of Corcavado mountain.

They also visited Santa Paula and the new capital, Brasilia, in the middle of no where.

On their way back they stopped at Panama where Jo Ann was born. Unfortunately they arrived on the day the government changed so they were lucky to get into a hotel in the American Zone. They heard quite a bit of rifle fire and since there were no taxies, they had to use the bus or walk where they wanted to go.

While they were away, a baby girl was born to son Steven Johnston and his wife, the former Linda Carstensen of Carmel who lives in Portland, Oregon.

Son Franklin III is at Chico State.

Reunion with Old Friends for Former Jennie-Keith Hill

Several dozen friends from her Carmel childhood and school days gathered to meet the new husband of the former Jennie-Keith Hill, Marc Howard Ross, to whom she was married in August in Evanston, Illinois.

Also present at the family gathering and open house given by Mr. and Mrs. Paul K. Hill at Hill's Corners were Jennie-Keith's sister Harriet and her husband, Dan Alexander, down from their ranch in Mabton, Washington.

The Rosses are living in Philadelphia where Marc teaches political science at Bryn Mawr College. Jennie-Keith is writing a book on anthropology.

A future full-time member of the Carmel Fire Department when he graduates in December from Cal State at Hayward, Bill Hill, was also there, as was Mrs. James Fuller of Carmel, Mrs. Hill's mother.

Teaching in Idaho

Word comes that the former Adele Gifford, who was married in Mexico last August to James Riley Stevenson, is fulfilling her contract to teach school in Horseshoe Bend, Idaho.

Since it doesn't matter where her artist husband paints, he is finding the scenery interesting. Stevenson's work is shown at the new Associated Artists gallery in Carmel Square on San Carlos, run by Mrs. Ida Has, a native of Australia.

Art and Linda Plan to Marry

Arthur Wilkerson Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Quinton J. Watson of Boise, Idaho recently announced the engagement of their daughter, Linda Lee, to Arthur Edgar Wilkerson of San Francisco.

Linda is a native of Idaho and received her education in Boise, where she graduated from high school. She is employed as a secretary with the Koppers Company in San Francisco.

Art is the son of Mrs. Beatrice M. Wilkerson of Carmel and Col. E. A. Wilkerson of Woodland Hills, California. His brother Rick is a senior in the Department of Economics at San Francisco State College.

He attended Carmel schools and graduated from Carmel High School in 1958. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree in Spanish and Linguistics from San Francisco State College in 1964.

A veteran of the U.S. Coast Guard, Art toured Europe after graduation. He is currently employed as Customs Broker in the import department of W. J. Byrnes and Company, International Freigth Forwarders, in San Francisco.

The couple plan to wed in San Francisco on a date to be announced.

Johnsons Tell of Greek Customs

(While Dr. and Mrs. Reuben Johnson were traveling in Europe and the Middle East, both sent their impressions to the Pine Cone. Mrs. Johnson enthuses throughout the trip, finding delight and interest in every minute. Dr. Johnson views their travel through the eyes of a professional historian, with an acute insight into the people, government, ...culture and problems of lands they visit. For the next few issues, the Johnson's will be in Greece, and we'll be going out of our mind trying to choose which to feature, Mrs. or Dr. Anyway this one is by Mrs. Johnson).

We are now at Athens. We awakened at six this morning—couldn't sleep over the prospect of getting the mail.

We were guests last night of Warren Edwards, a former principal of Carmel High School. He is here at the American School in Athens. We had a delicious Greek dinner at a lovely restaurant.

We visited with Miss Pavlina Labaridou, a former student at M.P.C. I want to tell you of Pavalina since her friends at M.P.C. will be interested in her. She works with the American Express. She is engaged and Pavalina's "man" as they call a boy friend after they are engaged has his own business in dental supplies.

They took us to the college where Pavalina's mother is manager of the boarding school as they call it. There were girls from many countries attending school there. Two of the girls are from Texas. Their father is with the "Voice of America" in Greece. One of the girls had lived in Monterey and her

[illegible]

Now the weather is warm and we have got [illegible] American Express to get our wallets replenished and we discovered that this was May first and May Day is celecrated in Greece. Everyone goes on an outing picking flowers and greenery.

The buses and public transporation are jammed. People walk to green spots and all carry flowers, and green boughs. The buses have bouquets of lilacs and roses. The cars are decorated so are the bicycles and people wear crowns made of grasses. A most interesting experience.

I must tell you about the interesting stop between Thessolonika and Athens.

We drove off the regular highway to a place called Meteora. This is the most strange area with unusual rock formations.

Back in the 12th to the 14th century monasteries were built high on these sheer mountains of grey rocks. This is called the Stone Forest. The only means of access is by baskets brought up by a cable and dropped over the edge.

We visited this area in the evening after the tourists had gone. One can hardly describe these beautiful ravines, the flowers blooming and swallows by the hundreds flying from one big rock to the other. A shepherd down below was whistling to his flock of sheep, the sound of many tinkling bells not too far distant. The monks long ago chose this place to meditate.

Carmel Travelers

Thank you for your past three issues of the Carmel Pine Cone, the first of a year's subscription ordered for us by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Tanous.

We have settled in a beautiful resort town 6,000 ft. up in the Alps, a half-hour's drive from Montreaux. We have found the Swiss people every bit as honest, efficient and dignified as we had read in the travel books, and even more warm and friendly than we had been told.

Two of our girls are enrolled at College Alpin Beau-Soleil here in Villars and our eldest daughter goes to Institut Bleu-Leman at Villeneuve, near Montreaux.

We have been very impressed by the high quality of education, not only in the private schools here.

Comportment, application and thoroughness receive as much stress as subject matter. Weekly grades are mailed to the parents.

Swiss youths are extremely well-behaved and tidy. There is still a strong spiritual current very evident among both Protestants and Catholics of this country. Juvenile delinquency and serious crimes are rare.

The society is definitely oriented toward the adults, who exercise close control over their children.

The outstanding characteristic of the Swiss, we have found, is their intolerance of mediocrity in every field of activity. It is easy to see why this country of 5½ million, with no natural resources except water power, with no ports, has been able to attain the highest standard of living in Europe, and has surpassed the U.S. in the quality of its educational system, its postal system, its public transportation system, its banking facilities, and in precision instrument production, among other things.

The country faces an increasingly serious problem of overpopulation by foreigners, and it is getting difficult to obtain extended visas.

Will write more about our impressions of Switzerland later.

Sincerely,
John and Nancy Livingstone

Thanksgiving at St. Philip's

All Carmel churches will participate in a traditional evening Thanksgiving service at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 27, in St. Philip's Lutheran Church on Carmel Valley Road at Schulte Road.

The Service will be conducted by the Reverend J. Bernard Bretheim of St. Philip's, assisted by other clergymen in the community.

The Sermon will be preached by the Reverend David Hill of All Saints' Episcopal Church.

The choir, composed of members of all the churches, will be directed by Mr. C. Eldon Harris and accompanied by Mrs. Connell K. Carruth, both of the Church of the Wayfarer.

New CBA Officers

Newly elected members to the executive committee of the Carmel Business Association are Henri Corbat, Gordon Robertson, Leo Tanous and Richard Wilsdon who will assume their duties on Jan. 1, 1969—replacing outgoing members who have served three year terms — William Burleigh, William Jennings, Barnet Segal and Charles McEwen, current CBA president who will serve as president ex-officio in 1969.

The ballot also included a questionnaire as to whether Carmel merchants wished to remain open some evenings for Christmas shopping —date to be determined later.

The YES voters won.

Christian Science Bible Lesson

"Let no man say when he is tempted, I am tempted of God: for God cannot be tempted with evil, neither tempteth he any man." This verse from the Epistle of James is part of the Bible Lesson-Sermon titled "Adam and Fallen Man" to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday.

Related pasages from the denominational textbook also will be read, among them the following: "The divine nature was best expressed in Christ Jesus, who threw upon mortals the truer reflection of God and lifted their lives higher than their poor thought-models would allow—thoughts which presented man as fallen, sick, sinning, and dying. The Christlike understanding of scientific being and divine healing includes a perfect Principle and idea—perfect God and perfect man — as the basis of thought and demonstration." Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy).

Divorce Reforms Urged By Lawyers

Thomson Hudson, Carmel lawyer, and former county supervisor, moderated a panel of lawyers in a discussion of divorce, custody and property settlement legislation at the recent Parents Without Partners meeting at the Mark Thomas.

Ralph Thompson, another Carmel lawyer, described the present "cockpit" courts which are not designed for handling divorce problems, and succeed only in increasing hard feelings.

William Curtis described the conciliation courts in some of the large California counties, which operate on the theory that a divorce should be granted "not on the fault of the parties, but on the state of the marriage."

Qualified marriage counsellors try to hold the marriage together. When they fail, most divorces are settled out of court, only 15 percent going to trial on a contested basis.

Edward G. Bernstein, Carmel attorney, described the situation in New York State where for a long time the only grounds for divorce was adultery.

Now they have several grounds, including a two year separation agreement.

The emotional aspects of handling divorces was touched on by William Curtis who said he had had a knife pulled on him, had looked down the barrel of a gun, been run off the road and had had his family threatened.

It was suggested that State Senator Donald L. Grunsky would be the logical person, besides the State Bar Association, to lead a fight for more civilized divorce laws.

Visitors are always welcome at Parents Without Partners meetings. Gordon Cubbison of Carmel is president of the local group.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Florence Newbury, who with her husband John Charles Newbury lived at Crespi Avenue for the past 11 years, died recently. She was born in Kent, England. She was the aunt of Mrs. Jean M. Willis of Carmel. Services were held at All Saints' Episcopal Church.

Edward Michael Aylward, 89, winter visitor for 11 years, died recently. Native of Wisconsin, he was the father of Mrs. Frank Born of Carmel. Those wishing to honor his memory may contribute to the American Cancer Society or the Visiting Nurse Association.

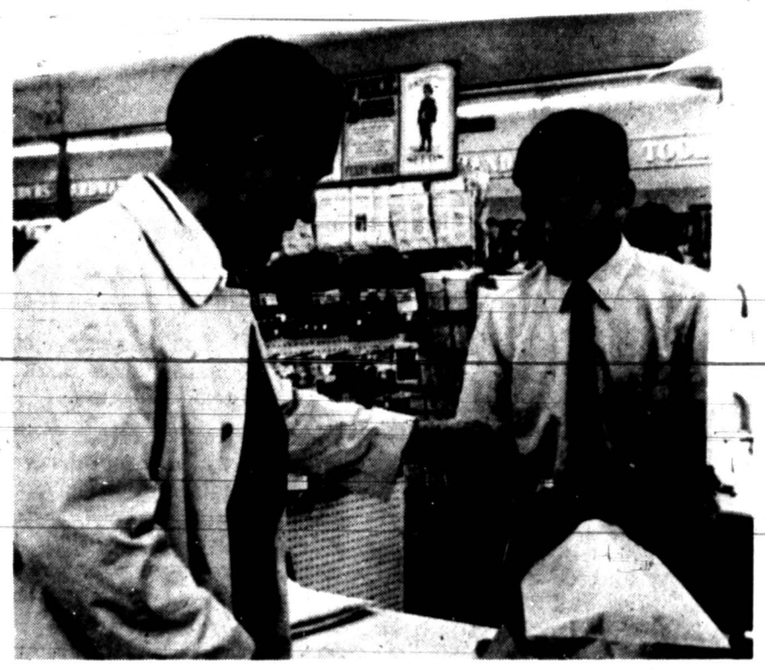
14 SAFEWAY DISCOUNT STORES SERVE YOU IN

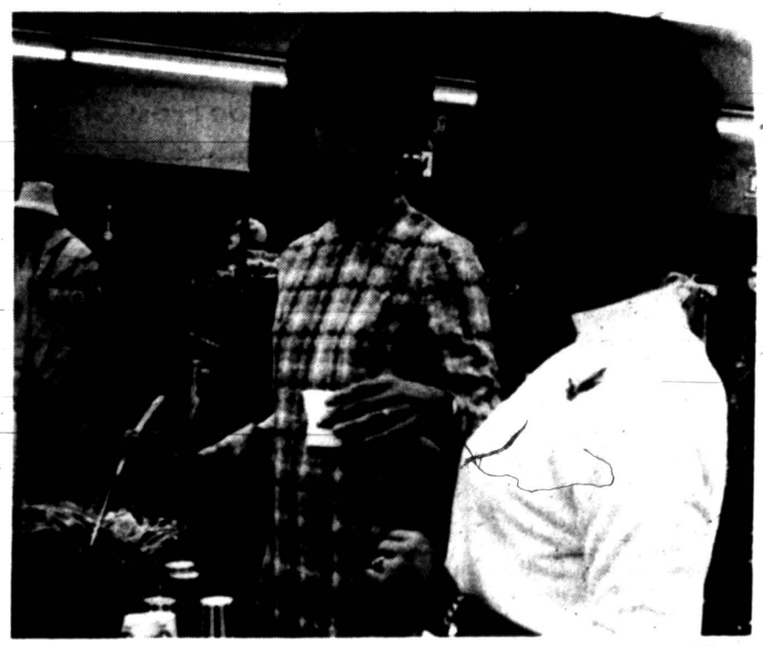
RED RIBBON, SHARP SCISSORS — (Both from Brinton's stock) then Thomas Bottaro, right, president of the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce, Richard Brinton, left wait for guest of honor Willard T. Branson, Monterey County supervisor, to snip the ribbon. The scissors close, the ribbon falls, and Brinton's Hardware Store is officially open in its new location.

. . . AND STEPS ASIDE QUICKLY . . . as in streamed more than 75 people waiting for the ceremony to end and the business of buying Brinton's merchandise to begin. Despite last Saturday's rain, the crowd that came to admire the new store was a large one.

. . . AND THEN — "Rich" Brinton turns and opens the doors. . . .



ONE OF THE FIRST . . . customers was the ribbon cutter himself, Supervisor Willard Branson. Our photographer failed to find out what the purchase was, but the salesman at right is Dan Cattone.



GOODIES, ALL KINDS — Lovely Mrs. Richard Brinton, left, pours a cup of punch for Bonnie Zenth, sales representative for Hoover vacuum cleaners of San Jose, who was aiding the Brinton's in their grand opening. Cookies, coffee, punch, door prizes and drawings featured the opening weekend.

Brinton's Gala Opening

The sky was weeping, but everyone inside Brinton's was smiling.

The red, red ribbon (notions — straight ahead toward the middle of the store) was strung across the door, the scissors (hardware — bear right about halfway down the second aisle) were glistening on the chair, and at 10 a.m. the ribbon cutting ceremony would begin, with Monterey County Supervisor Willard T. Branson doing the honors.

The new store, more than three quarters of an acre of floor space, is the culmination of seven years of outstanding service to the community, offering top quality merchandise at fair and reasonable prices.

The ribbon cutting ceremony last Saturday went off without a hitch, the doors opened, the crowd, down to about 75 from the several hundred the staff had prepared for, streamed through the door.

(The Brinton staff has mixed emotions about the rain. While it certainly whittled down the attendance for the grand opening, it will cause the grass to grow, so new lawn mowers will be needed; weeds will spring up, so hoes and garden tools will sell; mud gets on cars, so the new automotive section will sell car wash and wax. And so it goes.)

"It always gives me a great deal of satisfaction," Supervisor Branson said as he watched the people move past him after cutting the ribbon, "to attend an event of this kind. Normally, I cut ribbons at new freeways, dams and other public works that represent the expenditure of taxes.

"But Rich Brinton's operation represents the generation of taxes, a positive, tax-making thing that enriches the entire community. I certainly wish him luck."

Door prizes, punch, coffee cookies and other goodies, along with drawings for rotisseries complete with turkeys were also held during Brinton's grand opening.

Letter To Editor

A front page story in a local newspaper concerning the recent drowning on our beach is almost a blueprint of a similar incident which occurred a year ago, almost to the day, of two others persons, which I personally witnessed at the time.

As Beachmaster Frank Lloyd pointed out in his letter to the Editor shortly thereafter, "response to calls for help proved slow, some of it due to misdirection of McNaney's Navy to the wrong beach."

In his same letter he points out a similar situation the previous year, concerning a small girl and her grandmother.

He also made certain suggestions concerning a beach patrol, (which was also suggested by Mrs. Gretchen Skony of Monterey, in a letter under date of 10-13-68 to this column) line shooting devices, rescue surf boards, etc.

The press has never mentioned whether or not any of his suggestions were ever acted upon.

My point is that in all three cases, help was slow in arriving, due to the various reasons described in the accounts of these three tragedies, and I would like to suggest that, at regularly or strategically spaced intervals along our beaches, be they controlled by city, county or state, emergency telephones be installed, connected only to the proper authorities such as the Carmel police station, the sheriff's office and possibly the California highway patrol.

While I am fully aware that these phones might be the occasional victims of hippies and vandals, regarding the destruction thereof, the expense of installing and maintaining them could not possibly compare with the value of one human life, which they might be instrumental in saving, as a result of their immediate availability.

"Girl on a Unicorn" by Pierre Lavarenne

Three Galeries De Tours

by Louise Cook

Robert Kaller, entrepreneur of Galerie De Tours offers two galleries through which to browse.

Kaller, a discriminating dealer, presents local, national and international artists of excellent reputation.

Galerie De Tours North, upstairs on Lincoln near Ocean, is presided over by Robert Heavyside.

It features delightfully natural studies of children by Gunnar Anderson. In one a child is blowing bubbles, a girl is shown writing on the sidewalk, another is wading in the surf, all disarmingly innocent.

A European city scene shows a narrow street brilliantly lighted by the noon sun. The inevitable washing hangs between the buildings, all done in clean exciting colors with unrestrained brushwork.

Two marine artists are on exhibit. Menicucci paints small, beautiful and moody impressions of the sea while Marshall Merritt executes the more conventional type of seascape.

Galerie De Tours South, on 6th at Dolores, is managed by Frank Drowenga.

Both natural and imaginative flowers are alive and growing in the canvasses of Elizabeth Charleston, one of the important artists featured here. "Daisies at Noon" is refreshing with its overwhelming abundance of flowers. Some significant oils and sketches by Edna Hibil, the modern Renaissance painter, are worthy of note.

There is a lovely, nostalgic "Place de la Concorde" by the late Sam Manning. Joe Feuerborn is represented by canvasses in the opulant color he sees in his favorite subjects for portrayal.

Raymond A. Whyte is a highly talented surrealist, showing great technical skill in his minutely detailed flowers, jewels and people. They all convey the mysticism which is the trademark of the surrealist.

A one-man show by Whyte has been running at Kaller's San Francisco Galerie De Tours.

"Seascape" by Onabella Ellet

Still Life, Sea and Landscapes Feature Foundation Exhibit

The Carmel Foundation Town House will exhibit the paintings of Onabella Ellet during the month of November.

Mrs. Ellet studied painting at the Art Institute of Chicago; the Art League of Oak Park, Illinois; Arizona School of Art, Phoenix, Arizona; and Longboard Key Art Center, Sarasota, Florida; and privately with Merlin Enabrit and Cilfoni, Chicago; and several local artists.

Town House is located at 8th and Lincoln and open to the public 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

Louise Boyer One-Man Show Opens At Carmel Art Association

Louise Cardeiro Boyer is having a one-man show at Carmel Art Association during November.

Mrs. Boyer's painting is well-known to Peninsula residents through her work in the monthly showings at the Carmel Art Association Gallery and in one-man shows given in the New Monterey Senior Center Gallery, Seaside City Hall and at the Jean Kellogg Gallery in Carmel Valley.

She has also been included in the juried shows at the Naval Postgraduate School and in the Monterey County Annual at the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art.

Prior to her return to Carmel four years ago with her concert-pianist husband Gilbert Boyer from Latin America, Louise Boyer had had shows in Mexico City, Guatemala City and Quezaltenango in Guatemala, Quito, Ecuador and Munich, Germany.

Mrs. Boyer studied at the Museum School in Boston and later with Carlos Merida of Mexico, Xavier Gonzalez and Hans Hoffman of New York, and in California with Ralph du Casse.

The present showing at the Carmel Art Association has a unity of theme in that the paintings done in the last year and a half were the result of learning to know the Baja, California coast and waters.

Helen Ludwig Exhibit At MPMA

Work by Helen Ludwig, including watercolor, collage, sumi ink paintings and scrolls and some ceramic sculpture, will highlight the November exhibition at the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art.

Born and educated in the East, Miss Ludwig has lived in San Francisco for the past 10 years.

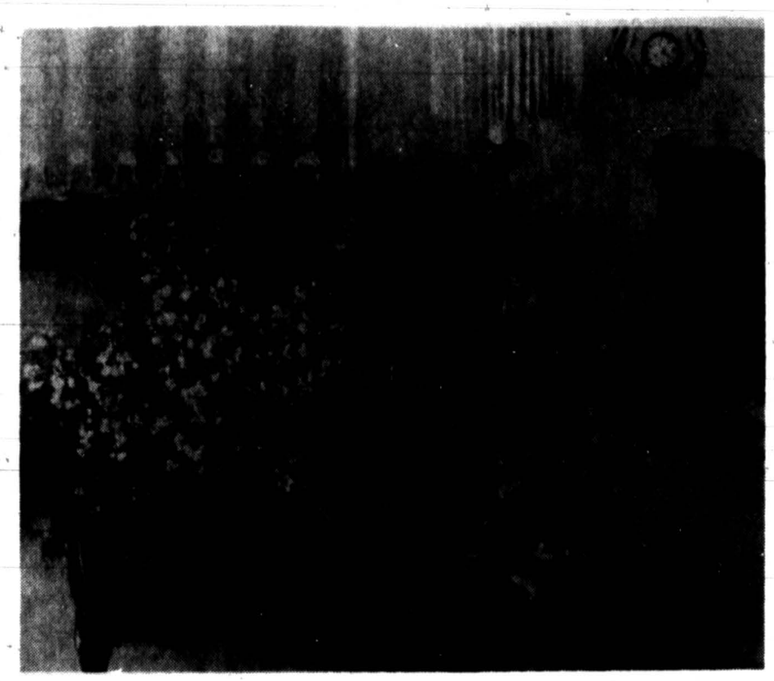
Her work is shown at the Maxwell Galleries in San Francisco as well as many Eastern museums and galleries.

She has had a one-man show circulated by the Western Association of Art Museums and an exhibition at the Palace of the Legion of Honor.

She has also illustrated 11 children's books and is currently working on a book of San Francisco pictures.

Also on exhibit this month is work by six members of the Montalvo Sculptors, associated with the Villa Montalvo, Saratoga, Calif. Included are pieces in stone, wood and marble by Jean Swan Gordon, Rae Johnson, Faye Isaak, Martha Bowen Boyer, Fraser Stewart and Clyde Prusman.

The Bayreaux Tapestry, the only work of its kind to survive the early Middle Ages, was used as a wagon cover during the French Revolution in 1792.



SAN FRANCISCO EXHIBIT — The painting "At Home With Jessie" by Carmel's well known artist Raph Jacobs is being exhibited through Dec. 1 at the M. H. de Young Memorial Museum in San Francisco. The work is 48" x 58" and is of the subject's aunt in her home, painted wtih a knife. It is extremely fine work and executed in this capable young artists impressionistic style.

Opera Film Series By Carmel Museum

Beginning Nov. 19 with "The Tsar's Bride," the Carmel Museum of Art will present a series of three opera films made in the Soviet Union.

"The Tsar's Bride" is an opera by Rimsky Korsakov, and it, like the other two, will be shown twice at the Village Theatre — at 7:30 and again at 9:30.

On Nov. 20, Moussorgsky's "Boris Godunov will be presented, and Tchiakowsky's "Eugene Onegin" on Nov. 21.

This festival of Music is a benefit for the financial support of the museum of art, and while tickets are now on sale for all performances at the Village Theatre box office, only those tickets on sale at the museum benefit the museum.

We Didn't Even Ask —

But a reader said, "The PINE CONE is the best 15 cents I ever spent on a newspaper. I wait for it all week."

Our Men In Service

Electronics Technician Seaman Burt B. Lauderbaugh Jr., USN, son of Mr. Burt B. Lauderbaugh of Carmel Valley Country Club, Carmel, participated in the recovery of the Apollo 7 while serving aboard the anti-submarine warfare aircraft carrier USS Essex.

The veteran Essex, oldest aircraft carrier in active service, was selected as the Atlantic Fleet primary recovery ship. The carrier was positioned along the Apollo launch vehicle ground track, approximately 400 miles East of Cape Kennedy, Fla., to recover the astronauts had there been a launch vehicle malfunction.

Seaman Recruit James T. Speaks Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Speaks of Route 3, Carmel, is undergoing nine weeks of basic training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

He is receiving instructions in Naval customs, physical fitness, military drill and inspections.

Seaman James W. Jaggers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Jaggers of Route 3, and Airman Kenneth E. Haff, son of Mrs. Nell Haff of 67 Fisher Drive, both of Carmel, participated in Operation Beat Cadence, a training exercise, while serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Ranger.

Operation Beat Cadence, conducted off the coast of Southern California, was designed to prepare the 30 Naval ships and 23 air units participating in the exercise for conditions in Southeast Asia and the Western Pacific.

Navy Seaman Apprentices Stephen N. Gates, son of Mr. F. Gates of Route 2, and John F. August, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom F. August of Route 1, 2 Fisher Place, of Carmel, has been graduated from nine weeks of Navy basic training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes. Ill.

Col. Olow Decorated In China

Taipei, Republic of China, special to the Pine Cone — The Chief of Staff, Army of the Republic of China, during a recent ceremony at the General Headquarters, Taipei, Taiwan, cited Lt. Col. John L. Olow III of Ribera Road, Carmel Meadows, upon his completion of one year outstanding meritorious service to the Armed Forces of the Republic of China.

Lt. Col. John L. Olow III

The commendation read in part . . . "Your tour of duty as military advisor to the Chinese Army has been marked with outstanding achievements recognized by unanimous approval. Your many recommendations and assistance during troop visits, field training exercises and staff planning conferences have proved to be an indispensable factor to the successful accomplishment of the mission of Army units. You are distinguished for your professional knowledge, experience, and response to the call of duty.

Aside from the military, you have extended your hands of friendship to the local orphans and children suffering from bodily deformities such as harelips and polio. This act of humanity has won you respect from the Chinese people."

The Olows own their home in Carmel Meadows and lived in Carmel when Colonel Olow was assigned, the first time, to the Combat Developments Experimentation Center and, the second time, to the Infantry Training Center, Fort Ord. Mrs. Olow is the former Pauline Sebree, sister of Mrs. Mark F. Brennan, Carmel Meadows, and of Mrs. Robert C. McAlister of Monterey. Colonel and Mrs. Olow live with their four children, John IV, Sebree Ann, Christopher and Alexander, in Taipei, Taiwan, ROC.

BORIS GODUNOV . . . filmed by the famed Bolshoi Opera Company, is Moussorgsky's masterpiece. Moody, realistic, traditinally Savic, it is a story of medieval Russia brilliantly transformed into the film medium by the artists, chorus, orchestra and ballet of the Soviet Bolshoi Theatre. See story, Page B.

MULTI-PURPOSE—Carmel resident Patricia Elliott, chairman of Monterey Peninsula College's division of physical education, recreation and athletics, seems already at home in MPC's new gymnasium. The clean-lined, grey-and-white building houses an auditorium with a 1500-person capacity for basketball games which can be converted into a theater building holding 2250 people for other events; a dance studio; a "combative" room; a pistol range; and locker rooms, showers and faculty offices. Rolls of carpeting at right are still to be installed.

Hidden Valley Music School Protested

A proposed music school for up to 70 students and eight teachers to be built on the 160 acres owned by Dr. R. Wesley Wright at the end of Mt. Devon road in Carmel Highlands, was opposed by neighbor residents at the last County Planning Commission meeting.

The Hidden Valley Music Seminars, headed by executive dean Peter Meckel and education director, John Waddell, have held summer sessions at Robert Louis Stevenson School in Pebble Beach for the past two years.

"It's a very good idea in a very bad area," said Monte Harrington, one of the objectors which included Hal Boyd, Dr. R. A. Kocher, Paul Lippman, Richard Swann and Daniel James representing Gus A. Bauman.

The narrow curved access road was pointed out as a traffic and fire hazard for both students and residents, and objections were raised against a nonresidential use in a residential area.

Commissioner Keith Evans of Carmel succeeded in having the matter continued until Nov. 27, to give Meckel a chance to explain the proposal to the members of the Highlands Association at the next meeting on Nov. 13.

Blinker Lights At Rio Road

The long-sought traffic signals on Highway Road at Rio Road have been delayed again, but in the meantime blinker lights have been installed.

These are yellow for motorists going north and south, cautioning them to slow down, and red for those crossing the highway, requiring them to stop before venturing across.

EXECUTIVE HUDDLE — Virginia Stanton, patroness of the Fine Arts and Crafts Festival, and Robert Grabrowski, artist-president of the group, confer on plans for the Festival's fund-raising event — "39 Craftsmen Bring Christmas." The event will consist of displays of handicrafts and art forms at the La Playa Hotel on Dec. 6, 7 and 8.

Padres Trounce San Lorenzo Valley

Fresh from a 15-7 win over a vaunted San Lorenzo Valley football team, Carmel high school this week end travels to Santa Cruz to tangle with Holy Cross.

The Freshman games starts at 4:30 p.m., the JVs at 6:30 and Varsity at 8:30.

Last week, the frosh won easily over SLV, 20-6, and the Mighty Bulls of the Varsity pounded the San Lorenzo varsity 15-7.

George Willox Fund Grows

More than $100 has been contributed so far to the George Willox Memorial Fund by his planning and architectural associates and civic and business friends, and a living memorial, a tree to be planted at Sunset Center, will be chosen and dedicated in the very near future.

Hugh Smith, together with John Riling Jr. and Cole Weston, will select the tree and incorporate it into the design for the development of Sunset Center.

Any further donations will help defray the cost of a memorial plaque.

Mr. Willox, who died this past summer, was a long-time resident of Carmel and served the Carmel Planning Commission for more than 12 years. He had also served on the initial Sunset Advisory Committee and as Carmel's representative to the Area Planning Commission, as well as an appointee to the State Planning Advisory Board.

He designed many of Carmel's attractive commercial buildings, including Su Vecino Court, Pine Terrace Apartments, Horizon Inn, Patisserie Boisierre, Rafaello's, Purity remodeling and as consultant on the Village Theatre design.

Those wishing to participate in this memorial project may make their contributions to the George Willox Memorial Fund, care of Arthur Plaxton, City Hall, Carmel.

Weatherscope

Thanks to the Parent-Faculty Club at Middle School, the science department now can give all the up to date information on wind velocity, wind direction, temperature and barometric pressure. This complete unit made possible by a $250 donation from the Parent-Faculty Club is now installed and in operation. They hope to issue daily weather forecasts to all students and faculty.

Have You Met . . .

Carmel relatives account for two other recent moves to the Village. One is Mrs. Gladys Gibson, formerly of San Francisco. While she hopes eventually to resume her profession of legal secretary, she is presently enjoying local theater and art galleries, her garden and piano.

"Cooking The Wild Ones"

Maybe you don't know when your own goose is cooked, but we'll tell you how to cook wild duck, pheasant, partridge and any small game bird your hunter brings in.

Our source of information is up-to-date although hunting is a centuries-old pastime.

Originally it was from necessity to kill wild life. Now it is partly to save these free-to-fly or roam birds or animals that shooting is allowd under strict supervision in the United States.

Waterfowl Rules

In California, the Department of Fish and Game has rules (never to be ignored or broken) about waterfowl management areas. You only have to go to your nearest resource agency to learn the strict regulations.

Our part is more flexible. So, from "Creative Cooking," by Eleanor Lynch of Reynolds Metals Company (and a good friend of your "food sleuth" Phyllis), we quote with utmost confidence:

"Maybe you can't shoot your own game birds, but you can cook them to a turn. Here's how:

"For both city and country folk, game birds are now a fairly common food item. Markets carry pheasants from game preserves, particularly during fall and winter months, and the rock cornish hen is available everywhere.

Hunter or Market

"Whether your hunter or the market supplies you with gamey birds, remember that freezing does not tenderize them.

"Since hunters can't select just prime young birds, they are not always as tender and juicy as poultry.

"But the flavor is great, breathing of the outdoors. Prepared with aluminum foil, wild birds become a zestful and unusual treat for family and lucky guests."

Pheasant or Cornish Hens Roasted in Foil

Pheasant is delicately flavored but, like most game, has a tendency to be dry. Stuff each bird loosely with a few spoonfuls of wild rice stuffing (given below).

Place heavy duty foil in roasting pan; add cut up celery with leaves, sliced onion and carrot. Rub bird with soft butter and place on vegetables.

Roast in 425° F. oven until lightly browned. Baste with melted butter to which some broth or dry wine is added. Close foil over bird enough to hold steam. Roast until leg joint moves easily. Follow directions on frozen Cornish hens and stuff with

Wild Rice Stuffing

Three-fourths cup (4 oz.) wild rice; 3½ cups chicken broth; 1 onion, chopped; 3 T. chopped celery; 4 T. butter; 2 T. chopped parsley; cooked giblets; pinch salt and grating of fresh pepper; ½ t. poultry seasoning.

Wash rice in several waters; add to boiling broth. Cook, covered, stir for about 30 min. or until water is absorbed. Saute vegetables in butter; add with parsley, chopped giblets and seasonings to rice. Makes 3 cups.

Serve with cranberry sauce, parsley buttered new potatoes; sauerkraut cooked with white wine and juniper berries.

Roast Wild Duck

Fill cavities of dressed whole wild ducks (one per person) with sliced unpeeled apples, celery with leaves, onion, garlic clove, pinch of sage. Arrange several ducks in foil-lined shallow roasting pan. Place a piece of salt pork or bacon over each breast.

Roast in 500° F. oven; do not add water. For connoisseur rareness, roast 30 minutes only. For well done, which many prefer, roast 1 hour. Reduce to 350° F.

Stuffing is not served and is for flavor only. The last 15 min. put currant jelly all over birds for a rosy glow. Serve wild or brown rice with tart applesauce or currant jelly.

Acorn squash and watercress add the right touch. Dessert is always light . . . a sherbet or fresh fruit and cheese. Dry red wine, such as burgundy, is the beverage.

For those of us who don't expect a gift of wild duck, here is a worthy alternative with a brace of domestic ducklings which should serve 6.

Delightful Roast Ducklings

Two ducklings, about 4½ lbs. each; ½ lb. butter; 1 cup water; 2 cans (3 oz. each) sliced broiled mushrooms; 2 pkgs. (8 oz. each) herb-seasoned bread stuffing mix; ½ cup white dinner wine (dry); 2 eggs, beaten.

Wash ducklings; pat dry; remove surplus fat from cavities. Cook giblets in 2 cups water; reserve for gravy. Remove liver after a few moments or it will add a bitter taste.

Combine butter, water and broth from mushrooms; heat until butter is melted. Remove from heat.

Add stuffing mix, wine and eggs and mix lightly. Add chopped mushrooms. Stuff and truss ducklings. Roast at 350° F. about 3 hours or until drumsticks are tender.

Remove from oven ½ hour before end of cooking time and brush with mixture of ¾ cup honey and 1 t. Kitchen Bouquet. Return to oven to glaze.

Roast Wild (or Domestic) Goose

The wild goose feeds on grain and grass and is less likely to be gamey than wild duck who feeds on fish. The goose (both wild and domestic) may be soaked in salt and soda mixed with water.

Or just rub the goose inside and out with lemon juice and fill cavities with sliced apples, onions, celery and carrots. Twist wings under body. Place goose on a rack in foil-lined pan and cover with a tent of foil. Prick at regular intervals with fork tines to release fat.

Uncover last 30 minutes and baste with currant jelly or honey-Kitchen Bouquet.

Do not serve stuffing.

Make gravy from boiled giblets and serve with mashed potatoes mixed with mashed turnips.

Green string beans and sliced pimiento add color and dessert is pumpkin or mince pie. Save this recipe for Christmas. Turkey is the bird for Thanksgiving.

Timetable for Roasting Game Birds at 325° F.

Duck or duckling (4 to 5 lbs.) about 2 hours (30 min. per lb.); goose (8 to 10 lbs.) 25 min. per lb.; grouse, guinea hen, partridge, pheasant all at 25 min. per lb.; quail 35 min. and squab or pigeon 60 min per bird. Wild duck and goose 20 min. per lb., depending on desired doneness.

Goose should be well done. For added flavor sprinkle cavities with fresh or dried marjoram and baste with heated port wine and plum jelly or any tart jelly or cider.

Now you can go wild in the kitchen!

'Lion In Winter'—Intrigue and Skulduggery At Circle Theater

An eloquent and witty comedy-drama, James Goldman's "The Lion in Winter," opens Nov. 15 at the Circle Theater.

The new presentation of the Community Theatre of the Monterey Peninsula, under the diretcion of Michael Keller, involves the extraordinary Plantagenet family, each a master of intrigue.

The play is set in 1183, Christmas Day, when King Henry II of England gathers his family for a reunion.

Henry Plantagenet even includes his queen, Eleanore of Aquitane, with whom he clashes over which of their three sons is to succeed him.

They greet each other with darts dipped in venom. Yet for all their rivalry, it would be a mistake to underestimate the feelings of these two for each other. They were once very much in love.

One would be hard put to find more interesting people than these Plantagenets, and in the supremely skilled hands of playwright James Goldman, they become brilliantly alive.

"The Lion in Winter" had its premiere in New York in 1966, and was warmly hailed by the critics as a piece of dramatic literature of the highest quality. It is now a motion picture starring Katherine Hepburn and Peter O'Toole.

"The Lion in Winter" is scheduled for a six-weekend run playing Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m., with a special early curtain on Sunday at 7:30 p.m. Due to the mature content of "The Lion in Winter," the Community Theatre does not recommend this play for children.

Assisting the director is Ruth Jordan Allan as production assistant, Gloria Z. Wheelr and Ruth Fry as stage managers, Scott Wheeler as sound technician, with costumes by Gia.

Reservations and group discount bookings may be made by calling the theatre box office at 624-2669.

A MEMO FOR YOU... from COMMUNITY THEATRE OF THE MONTEREY PENINSULA

1. If you haven't seen our current production of "Ready When You Are, C. B." better come Saturday, 'cause that's the last performance. (Friday is sold out).

2. Our next production "The Lion In Winter" may be the most controversial thing we've ever done. It's a ribald comedy described by Life Magazine as "..medieval 'Virginia Woolf'..." (We're afraid to ask if it were banned in Boston). Not recommended for children. Make reservations now. Opens six week-end run Friday, November 15th.

3. The Saturday (Nov 16) performance is a benefit for Palo Colorado School. Friends of the school will hold a champagne reception at the theatre at 7, followed by dinner served by the school association. If you know this good cause, you will want to help by attending. Tickets at $10 include the reception, dinner and play.

4. Have you taken advantage of our new low prices? Adults, $2.25, students and/or military (with identification) $1.00.

5. Something else new is our curtain time on Sundays. Fridays and Saturdays are still 8:30, but Sunday curtain time is at 7:30.

6. If you are a member of the Community Theatre (and if you're not, please become one) you will want to know that our annual meeting is scheduled for Monday, November 18th at 7:30 pm at the Circle Theatre.

7. Memberships help us a lot and save you money, too. Why not call the theatre office (624-2669) and ask Mr Keller for details?

SUNSET NOTES

By Dr. James E. Gilman

If you want to know the real truth about presidential campaigns, be at Sunset Center tomorrow night at 8:30 p.m. for the opening of "First Lady" by George S. Kaufman and Katherine Dayton. If this sophisticated and timely comedy of behind-the-scenes events in Washington fails to tickle your funny bone, it won't be the fault of the play.

A first night party will be held backstage after the performance for the cast and audience. Here you will have a chance to meet and chat with the stars and cast of "First Lady" including Betty Fowlston, Ruth McElroy, Ginny Frank and Bob Heater.

"First Lady is being produced and directed by Sid Frohman of Frohman Productions, Carmel.

Nick LeFeuvre Jr. designed and executed the lavish drawing room sets.

All proceeds will be donated by Mr. Frohman to the Carmel Chapter of the National Council on Alcoholism.

Performance Schedule

Six performances will be held at Sunset Center Theatre, including two matinees. In addition to the festive opening night, other performances will be held on Saturday, Nov. 9, and the following Friday and Saturday nights, Nov. 15 and 16 at 8:30 p.m. The matinees will be offered on Nov. 10 and 11 at 2:30 p.m.

"First Lady" had a long and successful run on Broadway when it was first produced by Sam H. Harris back in the mid-Thirties with Jane Cowl in one of the leading roles.

Cunning Hostesses

Essentially it is the story of two ambitious and cunning Washington hostesses who scheme to advance the presidential fortunes of their respective husbands.

Betty Fowlston stars in the role of the clever lady who wages a stiff campaign to put her husband in the White House. Ginny Frank, her arch rival in Washington society, has plans to live at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue herself. Her husband, played by Bob Heater, will do whatever his wife demands even to and including running for the presidency.

Both sides seek the support and help of the president of the Women's League for Peace, Purity and Patriotism. The president of the League (Ruth McElroy) is a dauntless old girl who controls six million votes and as such is a force that will neither be trifled with nor taken lightly.

Surprise Finish

In her zeal to advance the cause of peace, purity and patriotism, "Madame President" manages to upset some well-laid plans. There is a surprise ending that will amaze and delight.

Others in the cast include Beverly Pelton who figures in the surprise ending, Abbe Gail, Margaret Phillips, Betsi Pye, Jim Goffard, Edgar Pye, Nick LeFeuvre Jr. and Nick LeFeuvre Sr.

Tickets are available at the Central Box Office, Mission and 6th (May Court), phone 624-6739; Abinante Music Store, Monterey, phone 372-5893; and at the Sunset Center Box Office before each performance.

Taxes Going Up . . . Up . . .

(This is the last in a series of articles on the tax situation in Carmel by Pine Cone writer Gunnar Norberg.)

Since the assessed valuation of the City of Carmel makes up nearly 30 per cent of that of the school district, city taxpayers will put some $30,000 into this extra county school equalization fund, and it will get none of it back, either in dollars or in service.

This, again, because the Carmel school district is considered a 'rich one', a designation which, as we have seen, is far from uniformly appropriate.

Walter E Hinton, business manager for Carmel schools, who supplied information concerning this tax, volunteered that it was ". . . certainly not a fair tax to the residents of the Carmel Unified School District."

Other detailed information on the subject of this most complex tax, was furnished by George S. Chessum, Jr.,

administrative assistant in the County Education Office in Salinas.

Leading beneficiary of this county school equalization offset tax, will be the Monterey Unified School District, which will receive $201,000 from the fund to be accumulated.

Before we leave the subject of school tax, let us here sound a warning.

No doubt you are all familiar with the fact that there are statutory limitations on the tax rates which school boards can set.

It is for that reason, that so-called 'over-ride' tax elections are held. When such elections succeed, school boards can increase tax rates above the established legal maximums for specified lengths of time.

Such a tax is presently levied by the Carmel school board.

Now, the warning is this: Starting in 1971 — unless the state legislature acts to change a new law (A.B. 272) passed last year — there will no longer be any top limit to hold down the tax rate which a school board can set!

If you believe this situation presents a grave danger to already greatly harassed property taxpayers, you should contact your state legislators — Senator Donald Grunsky or Assemblyman Alan Pattee — before the next legislative session begins.

Since school taxes make up so large a part of the entire local property tax load, not only in Monterey County, but throughout the state, as well as everywhere in the country, and since such taxes are in a steeply rising trend, it may well be that new thought should be given to the establishment of a more equitable source of school revenues. New methods to weigh and measure and control burgeoning school expenditures may also be needed.

A state-wide tax, such as the portion of sales tax collected for cities and counties and disbursed directly back to them, might be considered for financing local schools, if it exempted (as the sales tax now does) most foods and medicines.

Eliminating the many over-lapping special districts which exist in every county, and conveying their responsibilities to the so-called general-government entities — cities and counties — would fix elective authority in fewer and more readily visible hands in each city; and, for outlying areas, in county government hands.

Schools, for example, could be operated as departments of city or county governmental organizations, depending on whether they were located within city limits, or outside of them.

In any event, the property taxpayer, especially when his holdings include only his home, is being pushed farther and farther against the wall, and it is time — and past time — to give serious consideration to his most pressing problem.

Have You Met . . .

"We call our home the Garden of Eden, with the view, the woodland setting and the wild life," said Mr. and Mrs. Earl V. Vernon, newly moved to Pebble Beach from Hollister.

Even though deer eat their garden and raccoons endanger irreplaceable tile on the roof, the Vernons discourage only the pursuits, not the animals.

"We made favorite flowers distasteful and put socks filled with mothballs on the roof!" explained Mrs. Vernon.

During the 42 years Mr. Vernon was manager of Woolworth stores in Fresno, the family vacationed on the Peninsula, like a "second home."

Daughter Gail and her dentist husband Dr. G. Edward Jacobsen made it a "first home" five years ago, living in Carmel Hills with Jeffrey, 11, Russell, 9, and Andrea, 7.

The senior Vernons hope son Robert and his wife will soon relocate here from Woodland Hills, completing the grandchild scene with Grant and Gregory.

"We're not really new," insist the C. L. Laws, formerly of Oakland. "We've been visiting Carmel for years and already know how to enjoy the Village and our new Carmel Point home."

Their son and daughter and four granddaughters live in the Bay Area.

Since his work permitted Michael G. Blansfield to headquarter where he chose, he recently chose Carmel Highlands—"for its beauty," explained his wife Donna.

Mrs. Blansfield does her husband's secretarial chores for Blansfield, Smith & Co. Consulting in Applications of Behavioral Science. Dr. Blansfield is adviser to business firms on personnel, inter-group relations, and on the Peninsula, particularly to nursing groups. Donna adds, "We met while I was a student nurse and he was on such an assignment."

Their work takes them throughout the United States, to Canada, and recently to Europe for the State Department.

"But instead of Los Angeles, now we come home to our house across the highway from Highlands Inn!"

Something Old . . .

TYPICAL OF "OLD CARMEL", possibly in the 1920's, is this spacious family-type home in a prime location south of Ocean Avenue. The lot size is ideal (60' x 100') and the setting has charm with native pines and oaks. This older home is worthy of renovation and should attract a purchaser who welcomes the project of improving a very "rewarding" property that offers:

- Large living room with Carmel chalk-rock hearth, pleasant outlook and floor area 15' x 24'
- Separate dining room
- Kitchen with metal cabinets, disposal and adjoining laundry
- Three baths . . . two with a shower and one with a tub
- Three bedrooms
- A study or fourth bedroom
- Concrete basement with central furnace
- Separate basement room or workshop
- Roof only two years old

It's vacant . . . we have the key. Listing price is $38,500.

. . . And Something New

JUST LISTED: A desirable Carmel Point building site a short walk from Scenic Drive and within sound of the surf. Located on a curving road with attractive neighboring homes . . . approximately 6,000 square foot lot area. A good value at $34,500.

PROCRASTINATION COULD COST YOU THIS SITE: For the benefit of out-of-town subscribers, ocean front sites are scarce and appreciate rapidly in value. We have over an acre with a level building site right on the ocean above a sandy beach on Spindrift Road. It is realistically priced at $80,000 today.

ONE-OF-A-KIND HOME VALUES:

1. San Antonio Avenue listings are always rare. Ours is a two-bedroom, two-bath, separate dining room home with a two-car detached garage and a delightful secluded patio. It has an ocean view from almost every room and is on a minimum maintenance 6000 square foot site. In addition to being a delightful home, it could be an outstanding weekender or provide some tax shelter as a rental. $67,500 and worth it.
2. On the other end of the price spectrum, we have a little two-bedroom home on Carpenter with an oak-studded front yard and a fenced rear yard suitable for a small child or a pet. For Carmel, it is realistically priced at a firm $28,500.
3. Perhaps you would prefer a three-bedroom, three-bath, separate dining room Carmel charmer down on Carmelo on the Point. Ours is almost completely furnished and the acquisition cost is $55,000.

Our World Is So Full of a Number of Things!

HOMES, FOR INSTANCE. We're very excited about a new one in the Country Club which is the finest value and most beautiful home at $55,000 we have listed in a long time. . . . Several in Carmel Valley from a weekender at $16,000 only six miles out, to the finest example of contemporary craftsmanship in an indoor-outdoor house complete with barns and white-fenced pastures at $147,500.

DOWN THE COAST we can give you several ocean-front homes priced from $89,500 for a fascinating hung-by-a-sky-hook hexagon near the Point Sur light up to $160,000 for the top of a mountain complete with a marvelous home and views you can't even imagine in your wildest dreams (divisible acreage, too). (And if you haven't seen our "Sound of Music" home on 6 acres in the Palo Colorado, you aren't really looking for a fabulous retreat, either.) Building sites on and overlooking the ocean down the coast, too.

IN A BUSINESS WAY, we have a downtown lease for sale. We have first-class shop-space for lease in a delightful court. We have commercially zoned land in the heart of the business district which has been in the same family and is offered for sale for the first time in years. We have a perfect location for a mail-order business for lease — marvelous for a rathsheller, too. We even have a commercial property with shop space below, apartment above.

FOR INCOME AND PART-TIME USE we have two properties just off Ocean Avenue and near the beach priced from $42,500 on a 75' x 100' lot to $82,500 for three houses on three lots. (And I mean just a half block off Ocean Avenue!)

A LITTLE RED SCHOOLHOUSE for $22,500. Artists, craftsmen, summer home people — it may be just what you want. Bordered by vineyards and apple orchards and only $22,500. Of course it's in Santa Rosa and not in Carmel, but we grudgingly admit that is beautiful country too. Brochure on request.

OUR SHOPPING SERVICE is always available to find something which isn't on the market, too. Maybe you should stop in for a cup of coffee and let us know what you like.

Library Fray At City Council

State Grant under Section 27131 of the Education Code.

This minimal financial requirement has been met by the County of Monterey only by averaging with the City of Carmel as an 'affiliated library' . . . ." (Affiliated because, so long as Carmel continues to pay county library tax, the County counts Carmel's Harrison Memorial Library as if it were its 'branch').

While Carmel could act to withdraw from the joint library agreement at any time before next April, and while it can take steps to remove the county library tax from the backs of city taxpayers, it did neither last night.

In the only other action upon which the Council did not move unanimously last night, Councilman Herbert Blanks voted against a Carmel Business Association request to put Christmas lights into an extra tree in the block on Ocean Avenue, either between San Carlos and Dolores, or between Dolores and Lincoln. Blanks said he felt the one lighted tree at the Junipero intersection of Ocean Avenue, was sufficient and that he "was against any further tree lighting" in accord with long-established Carmel tradition.

Much Council time was taken in discussion of a Cultural Commission proposal to purchase new seats for the Sunset Center Theater. Cultural Commission Chairman D. Paul Medalie expressed his Commission's wish to buy 714 seats from the American Seating Company at a cost of $46.22 each, or a total cost of $33,000. (Sunset presently seats 762 but the proposed new seats would each take more room, thus reducing total seating capacity). The Council eventually decided to postpone a decision in the seating matter until next Wednesday's adjourned meeting.

Last night's meeting began with public hearings. Two concerned (1) revision upward of fees to be charged by the City for building plan inspection involving design approval and (2) expanding formally certain color control procedures for commercial structures.

The third hearing concerned an annexation proposal—adding roadway along Scenic from Santa Lucia past the Martin Way intersection and including the J. F. van Loben Sels house, located on the seaward side of Scenic (usually known as "the Frank Lloyd Wright house').

The City Council received a check from Dr. Edward Chapman, who resides outside the city on Carmel Point, and expressed its appreciation for his gift of $76.94, which will be credited to the Sunset Center Theater enhancement fund.

Chapman said the amount he was giving was the city tax he would have had to pay if his home had been within city limits. He said, as he had before, that he considers himself a Carmelite, that he enjoys such of Carmel's advantages as he can, that he hopes some day that his area can be annexed to the City.

An offer by Mrs. Florence Josselyn, the only honorary lifetime member of the Carmel Planning Commission, to give her accumulated collection of historic Carmel theater programs and posters to the City, was accepted, and will be placed in the Harrison Memorial Library.

Employment of four new police officers was approved. Francis P. Corr and Joseph F. Stengel will hold newly budgeted positions, while Eugene A. Watts and Janice M. Schroeder will replace officers who have resigned.

Rotarians Hear Serra Pilgrim

Carmel Rotarians, at their La Playa Hotel meeting yesterday, heard John Woolfenden, S.D.U.C.V., in a short discussion of the election results, then listened as he described his recent pilgrimage to Father Junipero Serra's birthplace in Spain. Steve Sassoon introduced Woolfenden.

Next week Rotarians will welcome Congressman Burt Talcott, who will review the actions and accomplishments of the 91st Congress. Talcott will be introduced by Carmel Mayor Barney Liaolo.

For the meeting of Nov. 20, the Carmel service group will combine with the Monterey Rotary and hear Vernon L. Sturgeon, legislative secretary, who will outline the organization and functions of the governor's office.

Nov. 10-16 is Rotary Foundation Week, devoted to furthering understanding and friendly relations among the people of different nations through graduate fellowships, scholarships, technical training awards and group study exchanges.

New Carmel Inn

The venerable Carmel Inn, a landmark in the city for several generations, will blossom this month into a completely redecorated accommodation for 15 guests of discrimination and taste, and in the Senior Citizen bracket.

Nov. 15 is the tentative date set for the opening of this fresh new look in retired living. A completely modern kitchen has been put in, and a sprinkler system for fire protection installed.

The location, convenient to downtown Carmel, is ideal for the elderly person who desires to be in the center of the busy life.

Sadie Hawkins Dance at CHS

"Marrying Sam" will again be operating at the annual Sadie Hawkins Day Dance at Carmel High School, Nov. 22.

The Poor Souls will provide music and entertainment from 8 p.m. to midnight for the dance sponsored by the sophomore class.

This year there will be two kissing cottages instead of the usual one.
